

Hello all...

I'm writing to you to ask for some assistance. Some will be in a better position to participate than others, but I want to know that I've covered all the bases.

I'm looking for 20 minutes.

Let me explain. As most of you know, my job with GE ended in late January and I am currently looking for my next career role. Research shows that @75% of roles currently being filled are done so by networking...knowing people who know people, etc. I have attached a brief marketing statement revealing a snapshot of my background, search criteria, roles targeted as well as a number of companies with roles for which I've already applied. Please...keep in mind that these criteria are ALL flexible. Also, this is NOT my resume. This is simply a quick look at skills and focus areas.

Now, here's where you can help. I'm looking for a name and contact info for anyone in a position of authority to hire, or influence a hiring manager that will meet with me for no more than 20 minutes to gather information on their company. Not necessarily an interview in the traditional sense, but an informational meeting. I am simply looking for information about companies or positions that I may not know about yet. This may or may not be with a company you work for...just people you know, or that your friends know.

If you are willing to help, please take a little time to search your mind for the people you know. Please don't assume that they "can't" or are not in a position to help. If I've learned anything during this process, it's that people have more connections than they realize!

If you'd rather not participate, I'll completely understand. Just simply delete this e-mail if you cannot help at this time.

Thanks to all for your prayers and assistance!
